Do you regard the result in Ohio as a

Democratic victory? A. It was a Demo-cratic gain of three Congressmen, and a loss of the State ticket by about one-half, the plurality by which we lost it in 1876, when we had the last full vote. It was not, however, an emphatic endorsement of the "Ohio Idea," the supporters of which were unfortunately divided, and they would have won.

Q. What influence do you think the National movement will have on the fortunes of the old patties? A. I think and hope it will cause a recast of the two great parties.
